TAKING KIDS' SHOES ONE STEP FURTHER

The Skinny on Kids' Shoes

Kids push their shoes (and feet) to the limit. They run in them, jump in them, scale playground equipment, and race around their busy days, relying on them to hold up to the challenge. And most quality shoes for children offer good, flexible soles that help kids grip the ground and avoid accidents. But, what's happening on the inside?

Arches: An Inside Peek

A child's arch starts out flat, and develops over several years as the child grows. During this time, it's easy for kids to tire their feet out as they go about their action-packed lives. Since their arch is not fully developed, and since the insides of most shoes on the market today don't have any arch support built in, the muscles on the bottom of kids' feet strain to keep up with the level of activity. That's why lots of kids complain of being tired or having tired feet.

Arch Angels™ to the Rescue

This is where Arch Angels™ come in. With Arch Angels™, children can play longer, walk farther, run harder and enjoy being kids because their feet now have the support they need for their developing arches.

Arch Angels™ comfort shoe insoles are designed specifically to address the special needs of a child's growing feet. By utilizing our progressive arch design system, Arch Angels™ support the natural development of a child's foot.

Inspired by a Mom and developed by two podiatrists, Arch Angels™ grow with a child's arch as it continues to form through age 8. Arch Angels™ gently comfort and contour to a child's foot, providing support that even the best shoes can't offer. Simply put, Arch Angels™ do what a shoe can't.

With Arch Angels™, Moms will hear fewer complaints of tired feet, and discerning parents can rest assured that they are providing their children with the best environment for growing feet.

Arch Angels™ uses a unique triple-layer design. For comfort, the outer foam layers offers superior cushioning, while the inner core provides gentle support for the developing arch. Arch Angels™ are constructed of durable, non-toxic materials, hand-washable, and are designed to last through two shoes sizes. Arch Angels™ will fit into any enclosed shoe and can be moved from shoe to shoe to provide uninterrupted support, whether children are at play or wearing their dress shoes.

Arch Angels™, because a child's feet have to last them a lifetime, and Arch Angels™ want to be there every step of the way!
